GRIN Verlag. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 64 pages. Dimensions: 8.1in. x 5.7in. x 0.3in. Seminar paper from the year 2005 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies - Culture and Applied Geography, grade: 2, University of Hannover, course: Peripheries in British 19th-Century History: Scotland and Ireland, 12 entries in the bibliography, language: English, comment: Hausarbeit eines PS Kulturwissenschaften, Benotung 2 , abstract: If people around the globe are asked what they associate with Scotland or the Scots, tartan kilts, bagpipes, clans and the Highlands are the most common answers. Especially tourist interest concentrates on these landmarks of Scotland, which are said to be insignias of Scottish tradition, glory and identity, and which dominate the image of Scotland. But are these landmarks really linked to a tradition from times immemorial Do they really represent a link to Scotlands Gaelic roots This paper will investigate this question by introducing Eric Hobsbawms term of invented tradition to denote and to outline the process of creation of these Scottish symbols. The following portrait of the historical background will show the social, political and economic developments in the 18th and 19th century which led to the invention of tradition as part of the creation of a Highland myth as a result of and as reaction to Scotlands union with England in 1707. Furthermore, the worldwide spreading of the Highland myth, which has determined the image of whole Scotland ever since, will be described. The paper will finish by showing contemporary parallels to the historic developments and trends, and suggesting further topics of investigation. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg,OR, La Vergne,TN. Paperback.
