The subsequent discussion brought out opposition to the use of shelter belts along the shore of Lake Michigan; also a preference in some quarters for the shearing of evergreens. A communication was received from Jacob Ganzhorn, secretary of the Ann Arbor Pomological Society giving the history of the White Ann Arbor grape, of which some account will be given in connection with Washtenaw county. In connection with the foregoing, a letter was read from Charles A. Green, of Rochester, N. Y. , stating certain theories respecting the process of originating new varieties from the seed. He states that, The Wager peach reproduces itself from its seed, if on its own roots, but when budded on other roots it will not. This statement may be referred to high authority, but, in despite of this, there are not only reasons, but abundant experience to warrant doubts of its correctness. Professor W. J. Beal followed with an extended botanical explanation of the process of reproduction from seed both naturally, by crossing and by hybridization as well as from sports, following which he was made the target for a volley of questions. How to Grow Apples for Profit was the subject of an address by J. Webster Childs, of Ypsilanti, in which he detailed his views of the best practice from the inception of the orchard to the gathering, packing and marketing of the fruit. Professor A. J. Cook followed with some of the most approved methods of insect..
